Instructions

1. Fill your bin with shaving cream.
2. Add a few drops of blue food coloring.
3. Swirl with a wooden stick or utensil.
4. Add sea animals.
5. Place in the freezer until frozen. At least a couple of hours.

Take it one step further:

You don't have to stop after doing this once; try more solutions. Make your own mix of vinegar and salt at different concentrations. Try leaving the pennies in the solutions for different lengths of time. Make this your own and let your kids explore.

This activity is great, because it will show kids that textures can change quickly. What will start as frozen, will quickly unthaw back to liquid.
